

Brandon Green

Program Manager, Professional & Continuing Education

Texas A&M Engineering Experiment Station (TEES)

Brandon Green grew up in the small Texas town of Vanderbilt, TX being the middle child in a family of five. Success in athletics and in the classroom allowed him to accept a scholarship to Rice University. After Brandon's last year of eligibility in football he was drafted by the Jacksonville Jaguars in the 2003 NFL Draft as a Defensive End. Brandon spent 5 years in the NFL with the Jacksonville Jaguars, St. Louis Rams and finally the Seattle Seahawks before retiring. Brandon soon met his future wife and they have 4 young kids. Brandon and his family live in College Station, Texas where he works today for Texas A&M Engineering in the Professional Education group.